ABSTRACT

The purpose of this bibliography is to advertise the availability of resources for adult literacy education in public libraries and reading centers throughout the state of Nevada. The literacy collections were developed in response to identified needs of students, tutors, and trainers involved in community literacy education programs. The resources are arranged alphabetically first by publisher or producer, then listed alphabetically by title of item under each publisher/producer. The library or reading center location of each item is shown on the right side of the page. This list of multimedia resources includes audiocassettes, videotapes, computer software, and flash cards. Listings for printed materials include fiction, nonfiction, textbooks, training materials, and diagnostic tools. Among the most popular publishers are Fearon, Literacy Volunteers of America, and New Readers Press. Materials from Heinemann, Lakeshore, NTC Scott Foresman, and Steck-Vaughn are also featured. All items listed are available for purchase from the publishers shown. (DB)

INTRODUCTION

The purpose of this bibliography is to advertise the availability of RESOURCES FOR ADULT NEW READERS in public libraries and reading centers throughout Nevada. Librarian Lynn Ossolinski, a leader in statewide literacy activities, worked with the Nevada Literacy Coalition to develop literacy collections in response to identified needs of students, tutors, and trainers involved in community literacy programs. Lynn compiled this partial listing of literacy materials available to the public through the Nevada library network.

ARRANGEMENT AND CONTENT

For ease of access these RESOURCES FOR ADULT NEW READERS are arranged alphabetically first by publisher or producer, then listed alphabetically by title or item under each publisher/producer. The library/reading center location of each item is shown on the right side of the page. To borrow these resources simply consult the location key at the end of the list. If you need an item not located in your local library, ask your librarian to request it through interlibrary loan.

This list of multi-media resources includes audio cassettes, videotapes, computer software, and flash cards. Printed materials include high interest reading for adult new readers (fiction and nonfiction), textbooks, training materials, and diagnostic tools. Materials were selected from a wide variety of publishers and producers. Among the most popular publishers of traditional literacy resources are Fearon, Literacy Volunteers of America, and New Readers Press which publishes training materials for Laubach Literacy International. This bibliography reflects the eclectic approach to teaching adults to read practiced by most literacy programs in Nevada. In addition to materials used in traditional literacy training, it features materials from Heinemann, Lakeshore, NTC Scott Foresman, Steck-Vaughn and other producers of quality educational materials.

This list of resources may be used as a guide for building a basic literacy library or for expansion of existing literacy collections. All items on the list are available for purchase from the publishers shown. Materials on this list were purchased by the Nevada Literacy Coalition with grant funds from Gannett Foundation and Department of Education, LSCA Title VI literacy programs.
